STATESIDE ASSOCIATES RELEASES BEST LOCAL POLITICS BLOGS

ARLINGTON, VA. – Today Stateside Associates published a list of the best local politics blogs in the United States. The Best Local Politics Blogs list, formatted to fit neatly into Stateside's FactPad™, highlights bloggers that publish the most insightful content covering municipal, local and/or regional issue politics.

These blogs have proved to be a valuable asset for Legislative Associates, Regulatory Counsel and other staff working at Stateside Associates as they track and manage client issues. They provide both real-time information and help in identifying issue trends.

“Stateside is the only firm to offer clients comprehensive local government monitoring services covering more than 4,000 city and county jurisdictions nationwide,” said Stateside President and CEO Constance Campanella. “It seems a natural fit for us to publish this list of what we've found to be the most comprehensive municipal and regional blogs. After all, ‘all politics is local.’ ”

The Best Local Politics Blogs list follows on the heels of the Best State Politics Blogs list published by Stateside Associates in fall of 2011. “We received such a positive response to the Best State Politics Blogs list that we knew we had to publish a companion list covering only the best local blogs,” explained Samantha Holvey, who manages local government information services at Stateside.

FactPad inserts are designed to provide professionals that work in state and local government affairs, public sector sales and regulatory compliance valuable, quick-reference information. FactPads are distributed free to clients. Both the Best Local Politics Blogs and the Best State Politics Blogs FactPad inserts, along with many others, are available at stateside.com/factpad.

To find out more about receiving a FactPad, or to learn more about the Best Local Politics Blogs FactPad insert, please contact Samantha Holvey at sch@stateside.com or at 703-525-7466.
