

Michigan

Voters in Michigan will elect a Governor and Lt. Governor, Attorney General, and state legislators in the 2018 election cycle. All 110 seats are up in the House and all 38 seats are up in the Senate. Republicans will be defending a trifecta while Democrats hope to pick up a Governor's Mansion and gain ground in the legislature.

Attorney General

Republican Nominee

House Speaker Tom Leonard

Speaker Tom Leonard has served in the State House for six years. Previously, he served as an Assistant Attorney General and County Prosecutor. Republicans chose Speaker Leonard to be their candidate for the Office of Attorney General during their Party Convention in late August.

He is running on a combination of law and order issues, his record as Speaker, and tradition conservative values. He is campaigning on his pro-life principles, his opposition to sanctuary localities, and protecting the second amendment.

He's released digital media that features members of law enforcement praising his commitment to combat crime and his ability to deliver justice.

He has pledged to protect seniors from senior homes, telemarketers, and automobile insurers.

Speaker Leonard wants to increase support for law enforcement for drug trafficking, particularly those that deal heroine.

Speaker Leonard touts his opposition of Common Core and his votes to reduce taxes.

He believes that gun control laws restrict access to responsible gun ownership and strongly supports constitutional carry legislation.

Trivia: Speaker Leonard overcame severe healthcare problems as an infant and went on to play high school football and become a champion weight-lifter.
