Description:

If you select Batch, you can choose the specific days you want to receive the alert. There's also an option to select "Everyday" to avoid manually choosing each day individually. Additionally, you will need to enter the time you'd like to receive the email. However, if you choose Immediate, you won't need to worry about selecting days or specifying a time, as alerts will be sent as soon as they are available.

Step 7: Schedule Alert (Immediate Option)

Description:

Once you have selected Batch or Immediate, you can choose the interests you want to include in this alert. You also have the option to select multiple interests for the same alert. If you have many interests set up, you can use the filter tag to search through them quickly or sort them to navigate more efficiently. Additionally, if you decide to change the alert type while setting it up—switching from Batch to Immediate or vice versa—you can do so by clicking on "Switch to Batch" or "Switch to Immediate" without losing your selected interests.

Step 8: Review Selected Interests

Description:

Finally, you will see a summary of what you have set up, allowing you to review and confirm that everything looks correct. At this stage, you'll need to give your alert a name of your choice. Additionally, there is an option to add notes if you'd like to include any extra details.

Step 9: View List of Alerts

Description:

Once you've set up your alert, or by navigating to "My Alerts" in the top-right corner, you can view all the alerts you've created. At any time, you can edit an existing alert or sort them to help you navigate through them more easily.
