

OKLAHOMA

Voters in the Sooner State will head to the polls to select a new governor as Governor Kevin Stitt (R) is term limited. Voters will also select their picks for attorney general and treasurer.

Twenty-four (24) out of 48 senate seats and all 101 house seats are also up for election. Republicans are expected to maintain control of the executive branch and state legislature.

Attorney General

Democratic Nominee

Nick Coffey

Nick Coffey is a federal prosecutor for the Western District of Oklahoma and has spent his tenure prosecuting crimes related to transnational criminal organizations, money laundering, immigration, illegal firearms, drug conspiracies, counterfeiting, and fraud. He previously served on the Department of Justice's Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force where he led multi-agency investigations targeting major narcotics and money laundering operations on state and international borders.

During his first 100 days in office, Coffey plans to establish the Office of Public Integrity, launch statewide scam call prevention campaigns, and initiate efforts to eliminate illicit marijuana growth facilities. The Office of Public Integrity would oversee the prosecution of public corruption, including crimes related to elected officials and the misuse of tax dollars.

Oklahoma passed SB 2067 this past legislative session, allowing banks and credit unions to flag suspected scams and place a temporary hold on accounts. To assist in implementation efforts, Coffey would establish a statewide MOU with the Oklahoma Bankers Association to provide every bank in the state with a single point of contact and standardized training on identifying scam and exploitative practices.

Coffey's other key priorities include protecting children's online safety, cracking down on drug cartels, and increasing transparency in state government. He will prioritize the work of the Organized Crime Task Force to target illegal and black-market operations.

Trivia: Nick Coffey is an avid long-distance runner, having run a total of four marathons.
