

WISCONSIN

Voters in Wisconsin will elect a new governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, and treasurer in November. The gubernatorial race is open this cycle as Governor Tony Evers (D) is term limited. All 99 assembly seats and 17 of the state's 33 senate seats are also on the ballot. The state is considered a competitive battleground with multiple toss up races up and down the ballot.

Governor

Republican Nominee

U.S. Representative Tom Tiffany

Congressman Tom Tiffany (R) has represented Wisconsin's 7th Congressional District since May 2020. He previously served in the Wisconsin Senate and Assembly following earlier stints as a town supervisor in Little Rice and a member of the Oneida County Economic Development Board of Directors.

His campaign is focused on accomplishments from his time in Congress as well as plans to address affordability in the state. He supports freezing property taxes, lowering energy costs by expanding reliable baseload power, and eliminating regulatory burdens on businesses. Tiffany also wants to restrict investment firms and data companies from purchasing homes and Wisconsin farmland.

Tiffany has put education front and center of his campaign, vowing to deliver access to high-quality education for students. He has pledged that education dollars will go to students, teachers, and local communities, as opposed to the system as a whole and to increase teacher pay.

Data centers emerged as a flashpoint in the Wisconsin gubernatorial race, prompting both candidates to release data center plans. Tiffany's standards include ending taxpayer subsidies for data centers, giving local communities the final say, protecting Wisconsin farmland, requiring developers to adhere to the Ratepayer Protection Pledge, and banning nondisclosure agreements about proposed data center projects.

Tiffany secured President Trump's endorsement and voted to object to the certification of Pennsylvania's and Arizona's electoral results on January 6, 2021. When asked about the possibility of working with a Democratic controlled legislative chamber, Tiffany pointed to his experience in the state legislature and Congress working on bipartisan legislation.

The Cook Political Report has rated this race as a toss-up while the Center for Politics Sabato's Crystal Ball has rated it as Leans Democratic.

Trivia: Tiffany served as the dam tender on the Willow Flowage for 29 years, earning him the nickname of the "dam man."
