

SOUTH CAROLINA

This cycle, South Carolina's governor and attorney general seats are both open for the first time in years, alongside the state treasurer's race and all 124 state house seats. The state senate is not up for election this year. Republicans are expected to maintain control of all executive offices and the legislature.

Treasurer

Democratic Nominee

Vincent Coe

Vincent Coe secured the Democratic nomination for state treasurer after defeating his opponent with 55% of the vote in June. Coe brings more than 20 years of experience as a financial professional, attorney, and public servant with a background in protecting financial systems. He currently serves as Vice President and Fair Lending & Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) Officer at a regional bank headquartered in Greenville, South Carolina, and previously held federal roles with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) in New York and the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

Coe says he is running for the seat to safeguard taxpayer dollars, promote financial transparency, and help build a stronger, more secure economic future for all South Carolinians.

On transparency, he has pledged to create a dashboard covering every state account, investment, and fee, updated on a monthly basis.

Additional priorities include renegotiating Wall Street contracts, consolidating cash management, returning unclaimed property to residents, implementing early-warning financial discipline through quarterly stress reports, and directing attention to local government investment pools and small-town banking across all 46 counties.

Trivia: Coe owns a farm.
