WISCONSIN

Voters in Wisconsin will elect a new governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, and treasurer in November. The gubernatorial race is open this cycle as Governor Tony Evers (D) is term limited. All 99 assembly seats and 17 of the state's 33 senate seats are also on the ballot. The state is considered a competitive battleground with multiple toss up races up and down the ballot.

Treasurer

Democratic Nominee

Yee Leng Xiong

Yee Leng Xiong (D) advanced from the Democratic primary after defeating former auditor Dylan Helmenstine (D). Xiong previously worked as youth coordinator at the Hmong American Center and was elected to the Marathon County Board of Supervisors in 2016. He also previously served two terms as a trustee for Weston, located in Marathon County, where he led the Parks and Recreation Committee, was Vice Chair of Public Safety and sat on the Joint Finance Committee for the Everest Metro Police Department.

In 2019, Governor Evers appointed him to the Governor's Financial Literacy Council in recognition of his financial and fiscal policy expertise.

Xiong has pledged to protect and grow the Common School Fund, return millions of dollars in unclaimed property to residents, and expand financial literacy programs across the state.

To protect the school fund, he points to his experience as former DC Everest School Board Vice President, Clerk, and Treasurer. He has pledged to prioritize long-term stability for schools and advocating for transparent investment strategies.

On infrastructure investment, he has emphasized his experience as a Marathon County Supervisor and former Village Trustee, where he helped oversee transportation, finance, and infrastructure decisions at the local level.

He has vowed to balance environmental stewardship with fiscal responsibility, supporting responsible forestry and land management practices.

Trivia: Xiong made history in 2014 as the first Hmong American elected to the DC Everest School Board.
